If you are studying on a course leading to undergraduate credits or qualifications and are in your final year, you may be eligible for the NSS. Visit www.thestudentsurvey.com to find out.

SCAN HERE TO TAKE PART IN THE SURVEY:

YOU CAN TAKE PART BY VISITING
www.thestudentsurvey.com

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

The National Student Survey:
What is it?
Why should you participate?
What happens to the results?
How to take part

www.thestudentsurvey.com
What is the NSS?
The NSS is an annual survey of mainly final-year undergraduate students in the UK. It is a nationally recognised independent survey, which asks students to reflect on their course experience across a range of areas including:
  • teaching quality
  • learning opportunities
  • academic support
  • organisation and management
  • learning resources
  • learning community
  • student voice
  • overall satisfaction

Why should I take part?
• This is your chance to say what you think* about your course at university or college.
• It is completely anonymous and it takes around 10 minutes to complete.
• The survey is run independently by Ipsos MORI.
• You’ll be helping prospective students make the right choices of where and what to study.

*The survey collects students’ own views. If someone has tried to influence your response inappropriately, contact NSSAllegations@officeforstudents.org.uk

What happens to the results?
• NSS results are made available to prospective students on the Discover Uni website (which, from this academic year, replaces the Unistats website).
• Universities and colleges use the results to make enhancements to the student learning experience.