

Course changes may be triggered by any factor, including External Examiner report, new research, student feedback, change in strategic direction, outcome of review or monitoring exercises

